Paper 1 History and Culture of Bangladesh

May/June 2017

MARK SCHEME

Maximum Mark: 75

Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the May/June 2017 series for most Cambridge IGCSE[®], Cambridge International A and AS Level and Cambridge Pre-U components, and some Cambridge O Level components.

Question	Answer	Marks
4(b)(ii)	How did the way that Britain ruled India change under Lord Cornwallis? Level 1 [0–2 marks] Answers which offer very simple generalisations. e.g. He introduced rule by the British government. Level 2 [3 marks] Answers which explain ONE element. Level 3 [4–5 marks] Answers which explain TWO OR MORE elements. e.g. Under the Permanent Settlement Act 1793 Bihar, Orissa and Bengal were ruled by Britain in the interests of farming. Zamindars collected revenues and gave 10/11ths to Britain, being made owners of the land. Social policy e.g. education improved as a result of zamindar oversight and Britain had a group of loyal landowners on whom to depend. A disadvantage of the system can also be credited. One is that there were no maps showing boundaries in detail and zamindars came into conflict with local farmers. An advantage can be credited. One is that farming and Bengal became very prosperous as a result.	5

Question	Answer	Marks
4(c)(i)	Explain how each of the following opposed the British: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the Fakir-Sanyasi movement • the Faraizi movement Level 1 [0–4 marks] Answers which do no more than describe. e.g. They attacked the British for banning alms; the former were Muslim, the latter Hindu, they were in rural areas. Level 2 [5–8 marks] Answers which explain the importance of the elements given. Up to two marks for each element assessed. Therefore: one explained = 5–6 marks, two explained = 7–8. The Fakir- Sanyasi movement e.g. They were more powerful as both Muslims and Hindus felt threatened, numbering up to 50000+; they knew the lands and could hide easily so avoiding British soldiers; they used guerrilla style operations and were rarely available in big numbers for an attack by the British. The Faraizi Movement e.g. They were peaceful, gaining much support from Muslim farmers who were treated harshly by Hindu zamindars and so were harder to defeat; stopping paying taxes brought British justice against them, but this earned more support for them as Muslims felt it was unfair; The movement brought Muslims together, rekindling religion in areas where Hindus were trying to reduce its impact; working as a group made Muslims more aware of their rights, bringing a political awareness where there had been none before.	8
4(c)(ii)	Which of these two had more impact on the British? Explain your answer. No marks for simply identifying one or for additional description. 2 marks for explaining the decision. 1 mark for undeveloped statement. e.g. The Faraizi movement was more organised. 2 marks for explaining the statement. e.g. The probable answer will be short-term / long term. In the short term, the cost and organisation of military intervention against the Fakir-Sanyasi Movement was more demanding. However, longer term, the political awareness gained by Muslims through the Faraizi Movement created an organised political opposition, important by the twentieth century.	2
