- 2 Samira owns a successful business selling takeaway fried food. She employs 2 part-time workers. Last year revenue fell for the first time in 10 years. This was because of increased competition from a well-known franchise. To respond to this, Samira could lower her prices, as shown in Table 1. Another option is to start a delivery service. Samira plans to do some market research. She has to decide whether to use secondary research or set up a focus group with some of her customers.

Table 1: Price and variable cost information for Samira's business

	Current price	New price
Average price per item	$4	$3
Average variable cost per item	$2	$2
