MARK SCHEME for the May/June 2015 series

9788 LATIN

9788/04 Paper 4 (Prose Composition or Comprehension), maximum raw mark 40

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the May/June 2015 series for most Cambridge IGCSE[®], Cambridge International A and AS Level components and some Cambridge O Level components.

1 1 2 1 3 2 Caesar persuaded Crassus, the richest man in Rome, to pay his debts.	[10]
2 1 1 2 1 1 1 This done, Caesar was able to become proconsul in Spain.	[9]
2 1 1 1 1 2 1 1 1 1 1 Travelling there with some companions, as he passed through a small village with few
1 1 1 1 2 1 1 1 2 inhabitants, Caesar remarked that he would far prefer to be first man among those poor
1 1 1 1 people than to be second man in Rome.	[29]
1 1 2 1 1 2 Later, when Caesar had finished his business in Spain, it is said that, after
2 1 1 1 1 1 2 1 1 1 2 reading a little about Alexander the Great, he sat quietly for a while and then began to
1 cry.	[24]
1 2 1 2 1 2 1 2 When asked the reason for his sadness, he replied that it was right for him to weep,
1 2 1 1 when at his age Alexander had already conquered so many peoples.	[21]
1 1 2 1 2 2 1 1 1 1 1 If anyone wanted an example of an ambitious man, he would be wise to select Caesar.	[12]
